School taxes hiked nine percent

By Janice Harrington

A new School Board budget for the 1992/93 school year calls for a 9 percent average hike in school taxes and school board trustees expect a similar increase may be in the works for next year.

The budget, passed by both the County of Mountain View School Board and the county council last week by a vote of 7-4, increases spending by nearly 15 percent and taxes by an average of 9 percent over the 1991/92 budget, but school board officials say the increases were necessary to keep all the current school board programs running.

"This is definitely not a Cadillac budget," said Assistant School Superintendent Shirley Van Eaton. "This is pretty lean as it is. You have to realize that most of these increases come from things that are out of our control."

The budget increases spending by $3.349 million over 1991/92 to $26,202 million. County Comptroller Harold Johnsrude said part of the increase comes from the cost of opening the new school in Olds, part from a rise in enrolments in Cremona, Sundre and Olds schools and part from inflation.

"Some of the increases were not expected," said Johnsrude. "For example, the area of employee benefits saw fairly high increases. Canada Pension Plan went up by 8 percent and unemployment insurance by 13 percent. Those expenditures will be there regardless."

Johnsrude said similar cost increases can be expected in coming years.

But despite passing the budget, board members were not happy with loading tax payers with an average 9 percent increase.

"We all know taxes are getting out of control and we can't keep affording this," said trustee Susan Denischuk. "We all want to give the best education to our children that we can but we can't go broke doing it."

Senior school administration is expected to look carefully at the budget for next year to see where cuts can be made.

Grizzlys size celebration

If I have an addiction I guess it's to reading. Our whole family shares this addiction and most of the flat surfaces in the house are covered with 3 or 4 layers of the printed word. Our tastes are eclectic and we have a bit of information on almost any subject you can name. It may take a while to find the information, not because I don't know where it is but because I have a tendency to get sidetracked and wander off into the interesting things that I find on my way to the original subject.

My husband, if there is nothing else at hand, will read the back of a Corn Flakes box and he can peruse with apparent interest news magazines, history, humor, government handouts, sale bills and ad's from chemical companies. Between us we find almost everything interesting but when I received a copy of Alberta Health's, Vital Statistics Annual Review for 1990 I did not exactly greet it with glad cries. Pages and pages of charts and figures seems like unlikely reading entertainment. I was wrong. The thing is fascinating, it is a condensation of every joy and grief, drama and paths, heartbreak and highlight for a whole Alberta year. I can hardly put the darn thing down.

The Alberta Vital Statistics Annual Review is a summary of all events registered prior to March 1991, which occurred in Alberta during the 1990 calendar year. Main Categories are: Births, Marriages, Deaths, and Stillbirths but each of these categories has subheadings and accompanying tables. Under Births for example we have tables representing Live Births occurring in Alberta, In and Out of Wedlock Live Births, Multiple Live Births, Female and Male Live Births, Birth Weight by age of Mother and Male and Female Live Births with Birth Weight by gestation period. The charts in the Marriages section will tell you things like ages of bridegrooms and brides, how many of the marriages were first marriages and a breakdown of the marital status of the bridegroom by the marital status of the bride. For example 12,755 never married men married women who had never been married before either, 123 never before married men married widows and 1,978 never before married men married divorced women, 2,333 divorced women married divorced men, 202 widowed women married divorced men, etc., etc.

There are only 2 tables in the Deaths section, Cause by sex and age and infant deaths. The first of these is a very long and complex chart and full of drama and sorrow and maybe triumph when you think of the dread diseases that have been conquered by medical science. No one died of cholera or typhoid I am happy to report but 5 people, including a child, died of tuberculosis. No one died of brucellosis, diphtheria, whooping cough, scarlatina, erysipelas, tetanus, polio, smallpox, measles, typhus or malaria. Cancer and heart disease were the big killers of course and there is even a section of people who died from mental disorders, 227 of them. I would hate to have to be responsible for that chart. How do you tell if someone died of a mental disorder? Where do you draw the line? In my opinion someone who falls into a crevasse while climbing a mountain or is caught in avalanche while heliskiing is definitely a candidate for death by mental disorder.

Let's go back to something a bit less depressing but still pretty sad. Youngest live birth was to a 12-year-old, 3 thirteen-year-olds had babies, 31 fourteen-year-olds and 102 fifteen-year-olds, four of which were second babies. The youngest in-wedlock live birth was to a 14-year-old mother, 2 fifteen-year-olds had babies and it was the second child for one of them.

In the happy news department, seventeen moms were over 45, and the largest number of babies were born to moms aged 25 to 29 followed by the 30 to 34 group. There were 840 twins born in the province last year, and 27 triplets. One live baby was born after only a 17 week gestation period, three live babies were born after only a 20 week gestation period and 4 babies hung in there for 44 weeks. Some pretty cranky mothers in that last group.

I would love to give you the breakdown on births, marriages, and deaths for each of the towns in the county and tell you the towns in Alberta with the highest birthrate and the biggest and smallest babies and the weapons used in homicides but I have run out of space and time. Maybe in another column.

Teacher salary freeze suggested

By Janice Harrington

A resolution to hold teachers salaries between 0 and 2 per-cent over each of the next three years has been drafted by the Mountain View County Board with hopes of having the resolution adopted by every school board in the province.

The Board voted unanimously to send the resolution to the Zone 5 meeting of the Alberta School Boards Association in an effort to get it forwarded to the ASBA provincial-wide convention this fall.

Didsbury School trustee Murray Snyder said the resolution was drafted because of the problem school boards are facing with teacher salary demands.

"I think teachers need to realize that school boards just don't have the ability to handle 5 and 6 percent wage increases these days," he said. "We hope that the adoption of this kind of resolution will help drive that point home."

The resolution states that because of the downturn in the economy and below-inflation yearly provincial grant increases, larger salary agreements would result in program cuts and "a lower level of service to students and a higher workload for employees." The resolution also states that board efforts to keep salary increases down have been "disappointing [making it evident that] a province-wide initiative is necessary to make a recognizable difference at the bargaining tables."

School boards spend an average of 75 percent of their budgets on teacher salaries.

Seminar called sexist

By Janice Harrington

A seminar for women interested in politics is being called unfair by some members of the Didsbury Town Council.

Town councillor Doug Sharpe called the seminar discriminating, adding he would not be supporting the effort of the group organizing the seminar.

"I don't think it is politically correct to focus this just on women," he said. "I think this is a special interest group and I am not prepared to support any special interest group."

The seminar, called Women in Politics, is being organized by a non-partisan group of area women with a long standing interest in politics.

Group spokesperson Lorna Frere said she finds the type of attitude expressed by some of the members of the Didsbury Town Council disappointing saying that the seminar is not intended to be discriminatory, only to encourage women to get more involved in the political process.

"This being an election year, we thought it was a good idea to encourage some of the good folks to run," she said. "We are focusing on women only because up to now women haven't been represented in the correct numbers in political office and we believe they have a lot to offer."

Frere said men will not be excluded from the seminar, which will include such guest speakers as Lacombe Mayor Judy Gordon, County of Mountain View School Board trustee Tammy Pederman and CHQR broadcaster Sharon Edwards.

"We are not going to turn men away," Frere said. "Anyone interested in municipal politics and would like some information is more than welcome. This is not a woman against man thing, it's just women working hard for equality and men shouldn't be threatened by that."

The Women in Politics seminar is now an annual event which began last year in Olds. Organizers are hoping to attract people interested in politics from around the province to this year's seminar, planned for May 30.

Residents concerned over gun use

By Janice Harrington

The return of spring brings with it the return of the pesky gopher, but some town residents are concerned that it may also bring tragedy.

Residents of the Anderson Court Trailer Park, who asked not to be named, said people gopher hunting within town limits are posing a grave risk to home owners in the area.

One resident said she has spotted a number of children with guns shooting gophers in an empty field and the cemetery near the trailer park over the past few weeks.

"Just about every spring we have this problem," she said. "And I am getting more concerned every year that one of my own kids might get injured."

The resident, who was startled by a bullet from gopher hunters which flew through her trailer two years ago, said she wanted to warn others about the dangers of gopher hunting within town limits.

"I'm not sure if people realize it, but some of these hunters are children and they aren't just using pellet guns," she said.

Didsbury RCMP said they are aware of the problem of gopher hunting going on within town limits and are investigating all complaints they have received so far.

"It is an offense in contravention of the town bylaw to discharge a firearm, even a pellet gun, within town limits," said Corporal Christensen. "We will lay charges where we see this occurring."

Christensen said parents whose children are using their rifles to hunt gophers in town will have their weapons confiscated.

Assistant superintendent appointed

By Janice Harrington

A new assistant school superintendent has been appointed by the County of Mountain View School Board.

Ken Brown, former principal of the Olds Elementary has been chosen to replace the current assistant superintendent Shirley Van Eaton.

Van Eaton's position will be vacated later this year when she takes over as School Superintendent, a position she was appointed to in January.

Van Eaton said the board was pleased with the appointment of Brown to her position.

"He certainly has had experience in elementary and secondary school administration," Van Eaton said. "And the board had been positive about the appointment and about the work he has done so far."

Brown, who took sabbatical from his position as principal of the Olds Elementary two years ago, has been working in the position of assistant superintendent since the beginning of this school year. He has been filling in for Warren Phillips who is away on education leave, finishing his doctoral degree.

The family of Dorothy Sheils cordially invites you to an Open House in honor of her 80th birthday, April 18 at Didsbury Elks Hall from 2-5 p.m. Everyone welcome. No gifts please.

OPINIONS/EDITORIAL

An Easter poem

To celebrate the holiday, we bring you this poem by local resident Wallace E. Brower. Happy Easter!

Restored

I like to build many nice things,
Like houses and barns and sheds.
And also restore old relics too,
Like buggies, wagons and sleds.

It takes a lot of work and time,
To build things new you see.
But to restore old broken things,
Is more rewarding to me.

I take an old, old wagon gear,
All worn and weathered and cracked.
Scrape all the spokes and bolsters down,
Then fill the holes and cracks.

I paint it then, all firey red,
And hitch to it my team.
Then proudly ride down the back road,
With my long restored dream.

That old wagon would rot away,
Beside that old lake shore.
But now it had new life again,
To serve the world once more.

I did the same with a surrey,
And with a fanning mill.
A Carter disk and weighing scale,
An old machine and till.

Just to think they were useful now,
Restored as good as new.
To be used by their restorer,
With jobs they had to do.

It must be how God looks at us,
In our life here below,
For we are worn and scarred by sin
And worse the older we grow.

We try to change but fail we do,
We battle an unseen foe.
We have no help within ourselves,
This much we really know.

But Jesus came one glad fine day,
And gave us a new life.
When we repented of our sin,
With all our hate and strife.

He died upon a cross one day,
For all our sin and shame.
Such love was never seen before,
That's why we praise His name.

Then He arose that Easter morn,
Triumphant over the grave.
Arose from out that cold, cold tomb
To live, our souls to save.

Yes, He restores us much the same,
As relics from the slough
Scrapes off the dross and all the grime,
And gives us life anew.

So once again we are restored,
To serve our Lord and man.
So let us go and win the lost.
Fulfilling God's great plan!

Open letter from the Cremona United Church

Dear Editor:

Jesus said: "a house divided against itself cannot stand." For nearly three years, the two congregations meeting in the United Church building in Cremona have been a "house divided against itself." Regrettably, attempts to reconcile an equitable use of the building by the Cremona Congregational Church and the Cremona United Church of Canada have been unsuccessful.

As members of the United Church in Cremona, we feel a profound sadness about the present impasse in which we find ourselves. The people of the Cremona Congregational Church are our friends, our relatives, and our brothers and sisters in Christ. We worship the same God, seek to follow the same Christ, and look forward to the same Christian Hope. We know that our vision of the visible Church of Jesus Christ is very different. We in the United Church have a strong sense of being a part of a larger fellowship, rather than being just the local expression of Christianity. Individual United Church congregations, through their boards of trustees, hold any church property only in trust for the wider denomination. It is a known fact that the ownership of United Church property has been challenged, but never successfully.

Therefore, we regrettably have now taken legal action to exercise the right of Trustees of the United Church of Canada to require the Congregational Church of Cremona to discontinue their use of the church building which is held in trust for the United Church of Canada. The deadline for this action is May 1, 1992.

We wish to extend an open invitation to all to attend United Church services. We know that there were many dire predictions about the imminent demise of this denomination. Those predictions have not materialized. Choice of clergy still remains in the hands of local congregations. The doctrines in our constitution found in the Manual of the United Church have not been changed. In many ways the recent controversies have served to make our members more serious about the meaning of their faith. The Gospel is still being preached. The Mission of the church in the world is still being promoted. The evils in the world are still being fought against. Children are still being baptized, and instruction in the Christian faith continues. We lost many people, to be sure. But new people are still coming to hear the ancient message, "that God was in Christ, reconciling the world..." We would like you to join us for what God can add to your life in community with the "whole people of God."

Sincerely,
The Congregation of the United Church of Canada,
Cremona, Alberta

Wheelchair challenge taken

Dear Editor:

Re.: letter written by Don Fifield, "Parking Decision Regretted," April 7, 1992.

I've been thinking about this letter a good deal these past few days, and I've come to some conclusions.

I think that it's really too bad that the handicapped residents, (and actually a lot of the residents) weren't asked their opinions on the subject of Handicapped Parking spaces, then voting not to have any because nobody 'voiced any displeasure.' If people aren't asked questions, then why would they give any answers to the questions they never got? That's kind of like deciding not to build a library without asking any readers if they want one.

I can sense Mr. Fifield's frustration because a lot of (if not most of) the places in town are hard to reach by wheelchair—without assistance.

Making places inaccessible by wheelchair is like building a gate so tiny that only a few people are small enough to pass through.

Mr. Fifield must have felt betrayed when he went to the only accessible eatery in town and was informed by a waitress not to come back again if he moved a chair and left it in the aisle. He must have thought, "How can they do this to me? This is my town too." It's my opinion that the waitress shouldn't have said that. If I was in charge, I'd leave a chair out of the table permanently in order to get his business again.

He says that each business is responsible for one foot of space in front of their business. He also

GOVERNMENT NEWS

Two pension plan agreements reduce unfunded liability

Hon. Roy Brassard
M.L.A., Olds-Didsbury
Constituency

Provincial Treasurer Dick Johnston has announced that agreements have been reached with the Local Authorities and Public Service pension plan boards on pension reform. These plans cover 125,000 provincial government, municipal and healthcare workers in Alberta.

The terms of the agreements will eliminate the plans' unfunded liabilities over time, ensure proper funding of benefits earned in the future, and provide a guaranteed 60% cost-of-living adjustment on all service.

The reform of the Local Authorities and Public Service pension plans and updated actuarial assumptions will reduce the combined unfunded liability of the five pension plans from $5.5 billion to $1.2 billion, a decrease of $4.3 billion off the balance sheet of the Pension Fund. Consultations are continuing with the pension plan boards representing employees in the other three plans administered by the government to deal with the balance of the unfunded liability.

During the extensive consultation process, plan members requested more direct participation in the management of their pension plans. In response, the government is transferring responsibility for the management of the Local Authorities and Public Service pension plans to separate Boards of Trustees. Effective January 1, 1993, the new boards will be responsible for establishing general policy and investment guidelines, and setting future contributions rates.

As your MLA, I believe that these agreements are fiscally responsible and take into account the interests of Alberta taxpayers as well as public sector pension plan members. The government will proceed with pension reform legislation in the spring session. If you need to contact me, or just want to voice your concerns and opinions, please call me at our constituency office at 556-3132 or my Edmonton office at 422-0141 (collect).

A question of national pride

"CANADA"
CANADIAN
As these words travel through your thoughts what feelings do you have? When people ask you about your country, how do you answer?

The report on tourism being prepared for the standing committee on industry, science and technology says that, if you are a typical Canadian your response is anything but positive. The negative attitude Canadians portray to visitors is actually cited as a factor in discouraging tourists from visiting Canada or extending their stay in Canada. My first impulse was to argue the point, to list all the reasons we have for feeling tremendous pride in our country. But the fact is, this is not a new finding. Perhaps you remember that several years ago the province of Alberta ran advertisements on television encouraging Albertans to "Smile—You're A Tourist Attraction!" That ad campaign was to let people know that individual attitudes do make a difference.

The next time you hear or read derogatory comments about our country—be indignant—as you are whenever there are derogatory comments about someone or something you love. Love of one's country is not something to hide. As we celebrate the 75th anniversary of the Battle for Vimy Ridge we should be proud of all those people who were and are so proudly Canadian. There is no better country in the world!

Reply on farm foreclosures

Dear Editor:

I am writing in reply to your recently published letter from Nick Taylor, MLA, Westlock-Sturgeon, which outlined his party's notions on how to prevent farm foreclosures.

I wish the real world operated as simply as it seems to for Mr. Taylor. Firstly, he proposes that "something like the old Social Credit debt adjustment board" be resurrected, to review foreclosure situations. This is precisely the mandate of the Farm Debt Review Board, which is a federal program designed to make sure that farmers in financial difficulty, or actually facing foreclosure, obtain an impartial, third-party review of their circumstances, at no cost to the farmer.

Mr. Taylor specifically referred to the foreclosure of the former Thiessen property near Hawk Hills. ADC had been working with the Thiessens, the Farm Debt Review Board and through the courts since 1988 to resolve that situation. Those efforts were unsuccessful. On a related note, it is disconcerting that media reports state that ADC encouraged Mr. Thiessen to borrow more money than he needed. In fact, two thirds of his original loan was to refinance existing debt benefitting the Thiessens with a much lower interest rate.

Foreclosures are a relatively rare event, an eviction seldom ever happens, and it is always a last resort. Of a portfolio of approximately 11,000 accounts, only 28 have resulted in foreclosure during the first 10 months of this fiscal year.

Before considering foreclosure, ADC and its clients try many other options to work out a solution. These include early financial counselling, use of the Farm Debt Review Board, financial restructuring, release of security, deferral of payments in many cases, partial quit claims, home quarter "buybacks," and many, many other options.

In this case, as well as with all other applicable workout situations, ADC's policy of allowing the former owner to buy back the "home quarter" acreage was explored. Offers enabling Mr. Thiessen to keep his home quarter have been repeatedly rejected by Mr. Thiessen. His last counter offer, in fact, was for $1.

ADC's obligation in these situations must be to the taxpayer, and to the 95 per cent of its clients who do repay their loans promptly. Forgiving this debt is not an option. It simply is not fair to the farmers who do make their payments, and who struggle with the same economic circumstances as have the Thiessens.

In the Thiessen situation, ADC and the courts allowed them to stay on the property for many months after title returned to ADC, provided that they pay a rental amount set by the court. ADC received no payments. I believe that living rent-free, or more accurately, with rent paid by the taxpayer, is an untenable situation.

There have also been some incorrect reports about the Thiessen's furniture being seized. This is not so. ADC was obliged to move and store it, and it will be returned to the Thiessens as soon as they arrange a location.

Whatever form that financial problems take—bankruptcy, quit-claim, foreclosure, even eviction—they are terrible experiences to have to live through. I strongly believe that ADC's position on foreclosures is fair. ADC is not a heartless institution. Many of the people on the Board and who work there are farmers who understand all too well the problems inherent in that business. But it is a business, and the fact is that, like every other business, there will be successes and failures.

Yours truly,
Ernie Isley

Old age pensions increase

New rates for the federal Old Age Security, Guaranteed Income Supplement and Spouse's Allowance benefits for the April to June 1992 period were announced last week by the Honourable Benoit Bouchard, Minister of National Health and Welfare.

The Old Age Security pension (OAS), paid to people 65 and older, will be $374.44 per month. This is an increase of $37 over the previous quarter.

The maximum Guaranteed Income Supplement (GIS) will be $444.98 per month for a single person and for a married person whose spouse does not receive the Old Age Security pension or a Spouse's Allowance. For each married person whose spouse also receives an Old Age Security pension and for a married person whose spouse receives a Spouse's Allowance, the maximum will be $289.84 per month.

The maximum Spouse's Allowance (SPA), paid to people between 60 and 64 with a limited income who are married to GIS recipients, will be $664.28 per month.

The maximum Widowed Spouse's Allowance (WSPA), paid only to low-income widowed persons aged 60 to 64 who reside in Canada and meet the basic residence requirements, will be $733.37 per month.

The Old Age Security Act provides for benefit increases every three months based on the Consumer Price Index (CPI), the Statistics Canada cost-of-living measure. The higher the inflation rate rises from one quarter to another, the higher the raise in OAS benefits. Since the inflation rate has slowed down, increases in OAS benefits are also lower.

The benefit amounts for GIS, SPA and WSPA vary according to the recipient's income during the previous year. Recipients of the GIS, SPA and WSPA must resubmit their applications each year. Applications must be returned by March 31 to avoid any interruption in benefits. If applications are received and approved after the end of March, retroactive payments to April 1 will be paid after processing.

TransAlta says EEMA unfair

By Janice Harrington

TransAlta Utilities Corporation is asking for the Town of Didsbury's support in changing the current Electrical Energy Marketing Act.

TransAlta, which supplies electrical power to Didsbury, made the pitch for support at last Tuesday's Town Council meeting.

Wyn Meeder, marketing supervisor for TransAlta said the EEMA, which was established in 1982 to equalize province-wide utility costs, is unfair.

"The EEMA has made for high hikes in your bills and will make for further increases in the future," Meeder said.

TransAlta, along with the Edmonton and Alberta Power companies, generate electrical energy within the province, sell it to the EEMA pool, then purchase it back with the goal of reducing regional cost disparities to utility customers. Last month, Alberta Energy Minister Rick Orman announced the creation of an EEMA review panel to determine if it has achieved that goal.

Meeder said TransAlta wants to see changes in the EEMA because of the cost to its customers.

"Many customers of Edmonton Power and Alberta Power are getting lower rates than our customers despite the fact that TransAlta is the lowest rate producer," Meeder said. "By no means should TransAlta customer rates be higher than the energy customers they subsidize."

The cost of a new power producing plant built by Edmonton Power was partially paid for by Didsbury power bills because of the EEMA. During 1991, Meeder said, Didsbury electrical customers paid $228,000 in subsidies to both Alberta and Edmonton Power customers.

Meeder said TransAlta is proposing several changes to the Act, including 10 percent rate reduction for customers subsidizing other power company customers. He asked town council to write the review panel in support of TransAlta's position.

Town council did not discuss their position on the matter but promised to send some sort of submission to the panel.

Town Council notes

By Janice Harrington

Didsbury's own answer to a recycling committee is being nominated for an environmental excellence award.

Rudy Shabert's name will be put forward by the Didsbury Town Council for the Emerald Award given by the Alberta Foundation of Environmental Excellence.

In making the suggestion that he be nominated, Councillor Marjorie Malinowski said Schabert's efforts for the town have been outstanding.

"He has done so much work on his own, he is almost a recycling committee himself," she said.

Winners of the award will be announced June 1.

Town Council has agreed a large pile of metal sitting in the town's landfill site should be carted away.

Councillor Neville Marshall said the pile, which has been accumulating over the years at the landfill site, would be taken out to help in their efforts to reclaim the land.

Council agreed to hire a private firm to haul away the metal to be sold to a scrap dealer.

The overflow problem near the sewage lagoon should be solved according to an investigation by town engineering firm Brisbin and Sents.

Engineer Vern Sents told town council he believed the sewer overflow problem had been caused by a large blockage in the line and should be solved now that the blockage has been removed.

"We plan to track it and see if the overflow happens again," he said. "The syphon is clean so if it does it may be a capacity problem."

Council had asked Sents to look into the problem after the area suffered an overflow last fall.

Didsbury residents will continue to pay long distance charges to call Calgary according to Olds/Didsbury MLA Roy Brassard.

Brassard was asked to look into the possibility of getting Extended Flat Rate Calling service to Calgary by Didsbury Town Council last month. Other communities in the area, such as Carstairs, pay a small flat rate every month on their telephone bills for unlimited toll-free calls to Calgary under the service.

But Brassard said the chances of Didsbury benefitting from the same service were pretty slim.

In a letter sent to council, Brassard said only those towns within a 65 km. radius around the city qualify for EFRC. The distance qualification is based on AGT's terms which have been approved by the Canadian Radio-Television and Telecommunications Commission.

Didsbury is about 70 km. outside of Calgary.

Brassard said Didsbury's only option was to make an appeal to the CRTC to amend the distance criterion, but added that the CRTC generally does not change criteria for the benefit of single party applicants.

Review boards extended

Federal Agriculture Minister Bill McKnight has announced a two-year extension of the Farm Debt Review Boards (FDRBs).

Since their inception, the boards have handled more than 14,000 cases, with agreements successfully mediated in more than 80 per cent of them.

Follow-up surveys suggest that more than two-thirds of those who have reached arrangements through the FDRB process are still farming two to three years following review of their cases by the panels.

"The federal government remains committed to assisting the farm sector to weather current financial difficulties," Minister McKnight said.

"Thousands of Canadian farm families have benefited from the boards' services," the Minister said.

Farm Debt Review Boards were established in each province in 1986 to provide a process of review for farmers in financial difficulty or facing insolvency. Under the Farm Debt Review Board Act, the boards review farmers' financial situations and try to mediate agreements between farmers and their creditors.

The Farm Debt Review Fund, which assists Farm Credit Corporation borrowers through the FDRB process, has been extended for one year. The longer-term future of the fund will be reviewed in concert with policy decisions on other farm financial programs.

Mount View Health Unit news

Are hard times affecting what we eat?

It seems every day we hear more bad news about oil and gas companies cutting back on staff, poor grain prices, and small businesses closing. Many families are being forced to cut back on the "extras," and this includes some foods.

If a family has to spend less on groceries, it makes sense for people to purchase cheaper meats, shop for specials, and cut down on soft drinks, chips and snack foods. Perhaps ground beef, bologna, and soup bone sales increase when families are cutting costs.

Some families simply do not have enough money to buy a nutritious diet. As a result, children may not have breakfast, lunches sent to day cares and schools may not be well balanced, and there may be many macaroni and cheese dinners.

How can young children grow and learn when there is not enough money to buy a reasonable diet? And what can a low income family do if the food budget does not stretch far enough? Programs and supports for families vary, depending on community needs. Food banks have been a popular solution through the 1980's and into the 90's. However, these are only temporary solutions for most families. While Food Banks sincerely attempt to provide nutritious foods to needy families, they depend largely upon highly processed foods and canned and dried foods which are high in salt. Other programs are growing in Canada and Alberta. Community kitchens offer women the opportunity to learn about menu planning, food shopping, recipe reading and food preparation skills. Community gardens is another idea which has been developed and implemented with success in Canada cities.

Some schools have had to respond to the hunger issue, as many children come to school hungry and with poor lunches. Some Calgary schools have programs ranging from offering staple foods like crackers and peanut butter to a full breakfast program.

Good food shopping and purchasing skills are part of the answer for low income families. But even with good household management skills, some families will still not have enough money to spend on food because they depend upon reasonable social allowance, unemployment insurance and minimum wages.

If you are concerned with nutrition for low income families, please contact Wendy Benson, R.D., Community Nutritionist, Mount View Health Unit at 221-8000.

Constituent assemblies misleading

Dear Editor:

During January and February, the Mulroney government sponsored five weekend conferences on the constitution, misleadingly calling them "constituent assemblies."

But the vast majority attending the meetings were handpicked "constitutional experts" and activists from special-interest groups. Only a few so-called ordinary Canadians were allowed to attend. In no way, consequently, could these meetings be said to represent the wishes of Canada's electorate.

For a constituent assembly to be called as such, it must be elected. Representatives from each federal riding should be elected directly by the people to carry out proposed amendments to our Constitution. After the constituent assembly meets, the proposed amendments would then be subject to ratification by each province in a general referendum.

We find it ironic that the Mulroney government—so eager to raise taxes on Canadians—would see fit to deny over-burdened taxpayers the right to elect constituent assembly representatives and to vote on constitutional referenda.

Readers interested in finding out more about constituent assemblies can write: The Northern Foundation, Box 115, Station B, Ottawa, Ontario, K1P 6C3.

David Murrell,

Tradition dictates in new restaurant

By Janice Harrington

Jim Hadley hopes his new restaurant will become part of a tradition in Olds.

The franchise owner who recently opened up an A & W restaurant in Olds said he hopes people will come to look at it as a place to meet friends and make new memories.

"There is a legend to this type of restaurant that is more than just root beer," Hadley said. "We are putting something that's traditional into the town."

Hadley moved back to Olds from Rocky Mountain House to open the new fast food restaurant. He said he always believed the location he is in, on Highway 22, was a prime spot for development.

"I chose Olds for this particular project because of the health of the town," he said. "And I have always felt that this highway would be something. It is a natural drain from central and north Alberta into Banff and

Hadley said he first thought of opening the A & W after a developer friend mentioned the opening at the location.

"The reason I picked an A & W franchise was because I was so impressed by the people I met in Vancouver," Hadley said. "I was impressed by the people and the methods and the fact that they have lasted so well through the years."

Hadley said he has no special plans for the restaurant in the future, he just wants to offer excellent service and reliability.

"I just hope we become an accepted part of Olds, just part of the town," he said.

Fast food tradition

A new A & W restaurant opened its doors in Olds this month. Owner Jim Hadley hopes the restaurant will become a new meeting place for people.

Few of us can deny fantasizing about one day becoming a famous singing star--and why not? We've certainly had enough practice; carefully rehearsing our lines in the privacy of our shower, in our cars waiting at stop lights, or in front of mirrors using hair brushes as microphones.

According to Joanne Notley though, there's a better way! Notley operates a Karaoke Sing-a-Long Service out of her home in the Olds area... not your typical business venture by any means, but one she has certainly grown to enjoy since it first began three months ago.

"I'd never heard of Karaoke before until I went on a curling bonspiel trip to Lloydminster," Notley explains. "... we were walking by this bar and heard some real awful singing coming from inside. When we went in to look around, we discovered that it was one of the patrons singing with the Karaoke equipment." Notley says everyone seemed to be having a wonderful time and were truly entertained.

Karaoke, first introduced in the U.S., is still relatively new to Canadians. The follow-along words and melody to a given song are often displayed on a video monitor for participants to sing out alone, or amongst a group. While lounges and bars have enjoyed much success with the

SUNDRE/WESTWARD HO NEWS

Rustling rumors exaggerated

By Janice Harrington

Bovine disappearances in the Sundre area should not be raising concerns among residents that cattle rustling is on the rise according to the RCMP.

Sergeant McGhie of the Sundre RCMP detachment said while cattle disappearances occur every year in the area, very few are actually thought to be thefts.

"The range land is so large animals can succumb to a variety of problems, be it predation, poison weed or disease," said McGhie. "And once they fall, predators make quick work of the carcass so it is really hard to find out what actually happened."

Sundre RCMP are investigating one complaint made about the disappearance of 11 head of Charolais cross from a feedlot southeast of Sundre considered to be an obvious theft, but McGhie said area cattle owners should not panic.

"We are not experiencing a huge problem considering the amount of cattle around here," said McGhie.

Accident kills one

By Janice Harrington

One person was killed and another injured after a two car accident east of Caroline last Wednesday.

Sundre RCMP said Charlotte Diane Walker, 20, of Markerville died at the scene of the accident after she lost control of her car on Highway 54, striking an on-coming van. Slushy road conditions are being blamed for the accident, although RCMP are continuing to investigate.

The driver of the second car, Theodore Michael Schaaf, 49, of Calgary, was sent to the Sundre Hospital for treatment of minor injuries.

Both drivers were the lone occupants in their cars.

Museum offers passport to the past

By Betty Ayers

The Sixth Annual General Meeting of the Carstairs and District Historical Society was held in the Knox Presbyterian Church on Wednesday, April 8, 1992 at 7:30 p.m.

Officers for the following year were elected. Brian Longway graciously agreed to remain as President for another year. Vice President is Mr. Neil Good, Treasurer for another year is Helen Riddle and Edna Miller has agreed to do the duties of Secretary. Advising and supporting the officers are the directors, who are: Bessie Pointen, Michael Trotter, Alan Marsh, George Jochems, Garvin Clayton, Anne Strilchuk, Roy Dowell, Gladys Dowell, Don Wood, and Nellie Trotter.

Just like everyone else, the recession has affected our support from a number of sources. In an effort to raise some funds, the Historical Society is going to rent a table at the Elks Annual Garage Sale, and would appreciate anything that the public might like to donate to us to sell at the sale in May. If anyone has something in their basement or garage that they would like to donate to us, the items can be dropped off at the museum on Wednesdays or Thursdays at the west door.

The Historical Society is participating in a Museum Passport Program this summer. The program will increase a greater awareness of small museums among the residents of Central Alberta. The program will run from the May long weekend till the September long weekend. Persons wishing to participate in the program would purchase a passport for a nominal fee (approximately $4.00) and receive a complimentary David Thompson Country Museum Guide from the museum. Each time the person visits a museum listed in the guide, he gets his passport stamped by that museum. When he has visited 15 museums he gets a free pin from the fifteenth museum. If a person manages to get to all 26 museums in the David Thompson Country Guide, he will receive a pin package (five pins). If he chose to answer the trivia question (and correctly), at the front of the "Passport" book, he will be eligible for the grand prize; a collection of 26 history books. The trivia question would be about one of the museums in the guide. This should prove to be a fun and interesting way to tour central Alberta.

After the meeting and election of officers, coffee and a delicious lunch of homemade cookies and cake were enjoyed by all.

CREMONA/WATER VALLEY NEWS

Cremona Gold and Silver news

The March birthday party was hosted by Romalda Judd and a large crowd enjoyed listening to songs by Andy Robertson. Andy grew up in the district and is a real favorite with his fine singing voice and friendly personality.

Bowlers take note—the centre will be closed on Good Friday, April 17th.

A goodly number of people attended the potluck supper and monthly meeting. The bus committee has finalized plans for a 4-day trip to Radium, Fort Steele and Ainsworth areas with a windup barbecue at Three Valley Gap. Dates are June 9th to 12th and cost is $105.00. Please let Luke Mork or Audrey Rigsby know soon if you are interested.

The bus to Rosebud Dinner Theatre leaves at 4:30 p.m. on April 16th.

George Whitlow gave a report on the upcoming Senior Games. We will be sending a few competitors in carpet bowling, swimming, bridge and cribbage.

The guest speaker was Gail Cummings who teaches at Cremona School. Education Week is being celebrated during the first week in May and community groups are invited to visit the school and take part. People who enjoy telling stories or reading stories to children are most welcome to use their talents in any of the classrooms from E.C.S. right on up to high school. Call the school and put yourself on the schedule during Education Week.

There is also an open talent show on May 8th beginning at 10:00 a.m. All ages are eligible.

A course in beauty culture will be offered at the school starting this spring and the students need ladies to work on. Wouldn't you like to have a free shampoo, haircut or hair style or even a manicure? Trained technicians will be supervising at all times. Call the school for an appointment.

Seniors clubs often have their own club pins to wear on trips or at competitions. Design a pin and bring it to the next meeting and there will be further discussion at that time.

Cremona minor hockey and ringette news

By Ryan Robertson

The end has come. Sunday, April 5th saw our minor hockey and ringette teams say so long to the 1991-92 season when they all appeared at the Annual Awards Day.

As they unfolded, you couldn't help but feel very proud of each team and their accomplishments.

Six months is a long period of time to go by, and too often too many look at it as a bit of a torture test, but each team provides us with many memories and each year shows a positive progression as our association gains experience and better ways to adjust to things which happen along the way.

At this particular time we all reflect, and hindsight is all we have, but as summer takes over we will all look to September as not only the start of school once again, but a time when all of a sudden the words hockey and ringette become prevalent, and before we know it, it is 1992-93. Have a great summer!

Please note that the May potluck supper will be held at 6:30 p.m. and will remain at 6:30 p.m. for June, September and October.

FACING AIDS

AIDS AND HIV: WHAT'S THE DIFFERENCE?

When we first started hearing about AIDS and HIV, there was confusion about the meanings of the abbreviations. There is less confusion today, but the difference in these terms may still not always be clear.

HIV stands for the human immunodeficiency virus. This virus shelters itself in the body as it slowly goes to work. The body's immune system is its protection against disease. Because HIV attacks the immune system, it causes a gradual destruction of the defence system. An infected person may develop an illness which appears something like infectious mononucleosis, within weeks of the virus entering the body. However, for many people it is not until much later that they begin to feel ill.

AIDS, which stands for Acquired Immunodeficiency Syndrome, is the end result of HIV infection. Everyone who has AIDS is infected with HIV, but the virus can take up to ten years to destroy the immune system without showing any symptoms. It's only when an infected person is obviously sick that they are said to have AIDS. By this time the defence system is so weak it can't fight off certain infections. People with AIDS live only about two years after they reach this stage.

During all the years a person has HIV infection, they can spread the virus through sexual intercourse, or sharing needles to inject drugs. An infected woman who becomes pregnant has about a 30 percent chance of passing HIV to her baby before or during birth.

There are no drugs or vaccines to prevent HIV infection. Each person must take responsibility for protecting themselves. If you are concerned talk with your partner. If you have been at risk have an HIV test. Avoid intercourse or always use a latex condom.

No doubt some people will continue to be confused about the difference between HIV and AIDS, but there is one thing about which there must be no confusion. Everyone has a role to play to stop the spread of HIV.

Rosebud sheep 4-H news

By Sandra Pratt

On the 23rd of February, our club held the 4-H Public Speaking at the Rosebud Hall. We had to give our prepared speech then we had to give an impromptu speech on an unchosen topic.

We had to speak with our impromptu for 1-2 minutes. For the conclusion of our speech, the judges had chosen the two juniors and two seniors which would be competing in the area speak-off on March 14th.

The two juniors chosen were Sandra Pratt and Beth Oszli. The two seniors were Lauren Hall and Greg Rosenke.

For the speak-off on March 14th, we again said our prepared speech and our impromptu. Unfortunately at the conclusion none of us went on. Our 4-H achievement day is on June 13th. Our next meeting is on April 13.

Special crop prices up in '91

Major specialty crop acreage rose dramatically with increased pea acreage in 1991, but surveyed Alberta farmers are planning to seed slightly fewer special crop acres in 1992 says an Alberta Agriculture crop statistician.

"With very low cereal prices in 1991, special crops were an attractive alternative for producers. Special crop acreage increased by 17 per cent," says Michelle Gietz. Special crop acreage rose from 325,000 acres (excluding forage seeds and potatoes) in 1990, to 381,400 acres in 1991. With forages and potato acreage included, the total acreage was over 500,000.

In particular, pea, grain corn, dry bean and lentil acreage rose dramatically in 1991. "Field pea acreage increased by 80 per cent, grain corn by 49 per cent, dry beans by 16 per cent and lentil acreage doubled," notes Gietz.

Safflower, sugar beet and silage corn remained relatively constant. Potatoes, mustard, canary seed and forage seed acreage decreased. Gietz's figures are from the 1991 special crop survey conducted by the department's statistics branch.

Field peas lead the way in terms of most acres seeded to a specialty crop. Little change in 1992 is expected from the 180,000 acres sown last year adds Gietz. Mustard continues to be the second most popular specialty crop with 70,000 acres grown in 1991.

Producers were also asked about their 1992 seeding intentions in the survey. "The indication is that there will be a slight decrease—around one per cent—in seeded specialty crops acres," says Gietz. "But note this is a conservative estimate as it's based only on the plans of producers who currently grow specialty crops."

Survey questionnaires were sent to all Alberta producers—just over 3,500 in 1991—reporting miscellaneous crops in their Canadian Wheat Board permit books. Nearly 1,500 questionnaires were returned.

Radio scripts wanted

Writers are invited to submit their scripts for a half-hour radio drama to the fifth annual Write for Radio Competition, co-sponsored by Alberta Culture and Multiculturalism and CBC Radio in Alberta.

Scripts should be suitable for consideration by CBC's national radio drama series STUDIO '92. Three winners will each receive a $500 honorarium from the Alberta Foundation for the Arts. The honorarium will assist with costs of attending a pre-production workshop in Edmonton (date to be announced) to prepare for a potential contract with CBC and STUDIO '92. Bill Lane, Executive Producer of STUDIO '92, will lead the workshop.

STUDIO '92 is a venue for drama that takes risks and avoids easy resolutions. It features a variety of subjects and styles; writers should challenge themselves and their listeners. Writers are encouraged to make full use of the dramatic possibilities of radio in any number of genres with imaginative exploration.

The Write for Radio Competition is designed to recognize the talents of writers in the electronic media and to develop and support writers' skills by providing professional writing and production experience.

Submissions must be postmarked by May 30, 1992 and should be sent to the Arts Branch, Alberta Culture and Multiculturalism, 11th Floor, CN Tower, 10004 - 104 Avenue, Edmonton, T5J 0K5. For guidelines, phone 427-6315 or write to the above address.

Earth Day video available

As Earth Day '92 approaches, Nutter's Bulk and Natural Foods would like to remind all schools and community organizations that the official Earth Day Song and Music Video is available for presentation at meetings and in classrooms. Simply contact Nutter's at Olds at 556-1100 and reserve the use of the music video or song for your group. There is no charge, however, bookings are on the first come basis. Nutter's Bulk and Natural Foods is the official sponsor of the Earth Day Song. In celebrating Earth Day, Nutter's will be giving away 100 Spruce Seedlings starting April 20, 1992 ending April 22, 1992, Earth Day.

Grizzlys take provincial championship

By Janice Harrington

Victory over the Fort McMurray Oil Barons was sweet but short lived for the Olds Grizzlys who won the AJHL championship last Thursday at the Olds Arena.

Grizzlys coach Chris Stewart said the team was glad to win the provincial title, but said they are now concentrating on taking the Canadian championship.

"We have looked at it that way all year," Stewart said. "I feel just dandy about winning on Thursday but we aren't satisfied with just the Alberta Championship, we are going to go all the way to the Centennial Cup."

The Grizzlys nabbed the Alberta Junior Hockey League title in game 5 of their best of 7 series with the Fort McMurray Oil Barons last Thursday. The Grizzlys dominated play throughout the whole game, pounding the Oil Barons 8 to 1.

Grizzlys goalie Larry Moberg shone in goal, shutting out the Oil Barons until 14:32 in the third period when he let a goal by Travis Cunningham slip by.

Stewart said one of the best parts of the playoffs was seeing the Olds Arena filled to capacity by noisy, cheering fans.

"This is one of the biggest things that's happened to Olds in a long time," Stewart said. "We sold out for the Russian game and the support throughout the playoffs has been excellent. It makes it much easier to win and makes the players and the team volunteers feel worthwhile."

Stewart said the next stage in the Grizzlys' drive for the Centennial Cup begins this Thursday when they take on the winning team of the BCJHL championship. The first two games of the best of 7 series with the Vernon team will be played in Olds; Thursday at 8 p.m. and Friday at 8 p.m. Location of the third game will depend on the outcome of the first two.

The Grizzlys pounded the Fort McMurray Oil Barons last Thursday, winning game 5 in the best of seven series 8 to 1. Grizzly goalie Larry Moberg shut out the Oil Barons until late in the third period.

Didsbury Novice Warriors

The Warriors had a good season of hockey in 91/92. Under the guidance of their dedicated coaches and a lot of hard work and effort by the players, the team continued to develop all season culminating with their B-Division win at the regional Novice playdowns. Back row: Murray Snyder (coach), Dwayne Archer (coach); Middle row: Devon Kletzel, Cody Archer, Matt Blisschop, Dennis Coulter, Matt Schnell, Mitch Snyder, Tyson Youngs, Amy Hunter; Front row: Jason Janzen, Brian Birch, Ryan Fife, Chris Clazie, Tom Black, Jesse Gendale, Ian McMullen, David Ward, and Shawn Hndy.

April is dental health month

Have you ever said, "I want my kids' teeth to be better than mine"? If so, Dental Health Month '92 is a good time to start making this a reality. Sponsored by the Dental Health Professions of Alberta, including all dentists, dental hygienists, and dental assistants, the message is that Quality Dental Health Comes in Bite Size Pieces. Although quality dental health can be achieved at any age, infancy is the best place to start.

As parents, your goal is to assist your child to have strong healthy gums and teeth, free of decay, and in good alignment. Quality dental health is much easier for children today, with the availability of community water fluoridation. If your community does not have fluoridation, ask your dentist or dental hygienist about fluoride supplements.

One important preventive step that you as parents of infants can take is to avoid putting your baby to bed with a bottle. This has been proven to be a major cause of decay in baby teeth, resulting in the possible need for extraction. When there is premature loss of baby teeth, this can lead to misalignment of the permanent teeth.

The eating of healthy foods, is an important step for the development of strong teeth. Combine this with teaching and supervision of proper brushing and flossing at home, and your child will be well on the way to quality dental health. Parents are urged to assist with brushing for small children and supervision is recommended for children under eight. If you have questions regarding effective brushing technique, your dental hygienist would be glad to assist.

"When do I first take my child to the dentist or dental hygienist at the Health Unit?" is a question often asked. Although some Health Units may have earlier programs, the general rule of thumb is that the first dental visit should occur by age 2½. This allows for a checkup to ensure proper growth and development as well as to review oral hygiene tips.

As your child grows, regular dental checkups, together with cleaning and application of preventive fluoride products and good brushing and flossing at home will provide the baseline for quality dental health. Additional protection against decay can also be achieved through the application of dental sealants. You are encouraged to discuss your child's dental needs with your dentist and dental hygienist.

By taking advantage of the suggestions here, you are ensuring that your children will have a good start to quality dental health. Parents today are aware that good looking, straight teeth provide a child with more confidence in themselves. Straight teeth also make cleaning easier resulting in less tooth decay and gum disease. If you are concerned about the positioning of your child's teeth—discuss this with your dentist.

As the Dental Health Month slogan says, "Quality Dental Health Comes in Bite Size Pieces" and "Good Dental Health is a Step To Total Health." As parents, you are urged to assist your children to take the bite to quality dental health.

Didsbury Elks news

Dear Elks members, it's been quite awhile since you heard from me. Sorry for the inconvenience. Let's get down to business.

April 9th meeting went really well and we had a good turnout for supper.

May 2, 1992 we need able body people for a wood chopping workshop at Cipperley's Pond. We are going out with the Cadets and stockpile our wood for the summer. The more people that show up the better. I have put in an order for good weather that weekend so make plans to come out.

Also May 2nd at 8 p.m. the O.O.R.P. are having their installation of officers. The Didsbury Elks Patrol Team will be assisting in the installation. All Elks members and families are welcome.

NOTICE SPRING CLEAN-UP

April 27 - May 1, 1992 has been designated SPRING CLEAN-UP week by the Public Works Department of the Town of Didsbury. Please have all excess garbage placed in containers or bundles and placed at usual spot of pickup, by Monday, April 27.

Town employees are NOT permitted to enter private property for garbage pickup.

The Didsbury Elks raised $2,164.00 for the Heart and Stroke Foundation.

Stavely requested that the Didsbury Elks and the O.O.R.P. assist in their installation of officers, that went quite well with four women and four men from our patrol teams.

Exalted Ruler Alex Pratt on behalf of the Lodge #514 would like to send best wishes to Don Watt who is in the hospital and we wish him a speedy recovery.

May 14, 1992, there will be a special supper meeting in honor of our 25th Anniversary, everyone welcome.

Saturday, March 28, the Didsbury 3025 R.C.A.C.C. Cadets held their Fourth Annual Mess Dinner. It was attended by the Cadets and their parents as well as invited guests. The excellent meal was prepared by the Didsbury O.O.R.P. who served 110 people.

The Didsbury Elks are proud to be the sponsors of the Cadet Corps. They have watched the Corps grow to its now 29 Cadets and wish to thank all the people that lend their support in the past.

Living skills for your children

Karen Hoover
District Home Economist
P.O. Box 250
Olds, AB, T0M 1P0
Phone: 556-4220

When young adults leave home for more education or their first job, how well prepared are they to take care of themselves? Can they clean a home and keep it that way? Do they know how to shop for and cook healthy foods? Are they able to manage (budget) their income? If the answer to these questions is yes, then they are released from the extra time it takes to learn these things when time is needed to concentrate on studies, career or other areas of living. Mary Ellen Norgard, D.H.E. at Oyen, shares these tips to help your child develop living skills.

In his book, "401 Ways to Get Your Kids to Work at Home," Monson McCullough writes: "As a parent, there are ways to prepare your child for the Big World whether they are two or 22. During the 18 years or so a child is in your home, you will be doing lots of things and going many places, so why not get full value from these experiences through goal setting, and plan your activities to provide the maximum instructional benefit for your children?

The child's accomplishment of skills will improve self-image and give the confidence on which to build even more skills. Independent children can bounce back from crises and move forward while dependant children are more vulnerable to problems that can ruin their lives. You, the parent, will enjoy many rewards too: your sense of success develops, the workload is shared, and the child will be working with you rather than against you. Setting these goals will create more time for the parent and child to enjoy other things in life."

When teaching your children new skills:

1. Break the job down into small manageable parts.
2. Thoroughly show and tell each part of the job.
3. Offer encouragement and appreciation. A child who thinks she can, can. Avoid the "do it or else" situation.
4. Keep work periods short and successful.
5. Stay with your child as he works until he has successfully completed a chore three different times on separate days.

6. Let your child take part in learning fun skills, not just cleaning tasks--decorating a cake, planning games for a birthday party, arranging flowers, etc.

Work Motivators - If you are teaching young children to pick up their toys and clothes, here are some ideas to make the task more fun:

1. Wind up one another and pretend to be work robots.
2. Wind up a music box and see how much can be picked up before the music stops.
3. Use child size shopping carts to pick up toys and pretend to be buying them at the store. Set up a cash register in the child's bedroom.
4. Have the child put away 10 items in a room and then ask the parent to guess what was put away.
5. Parent can act as Toy Catcher, putting misplaced toys in the Toy Pound. To free a toy, child must pay the fine by doing a special job for a parent.

Children are wonderful. They bring joy, frustration, laughter, tears and so much more. Being a parent is scary, though. We have such power over their lives and the people they will become. We need to do our best to love them, spend time with them and let them know they make our lives complete. It will pay off in spades.

Many thanks to Diane Luke, District Home Economist, High River, Alberta for this informative article.

Changes made to sportfishing regulations

The 1992 Guide to Sportfishing has been released and is being distributed to all Fish and Wildlife offices and private license vendors. "As in previous years, several changes have been made to protect the resource and provide quality fishing experiences for Alberta anglers," said LeRoy Fjordbotten, Minister of Forestry, Lands and Wildlife.

All anglers should pick up a copy of the Guide as soon as possible and acquaint themselves with the regulations and the changes made for 1992.

Some of the changes include:

- Season dates and creel limits have been changed on portions of the Crownsnest River to increase recreational fishing opportunities. A "Slot-size limit," in which only fish of certain sizes may be kept, has been established for trout take downstream of the East Hillcrest Bridge to provide a high quality fishing experience and protect the mature segment of the fish population. As well, a new catch-and-release (zero catch limit) fishery from November to June will increase fishing opportunities for trout and mountain whitefish during a time of the year that had previously been closed to fishing.

- A catch-and-release fishery and a year round bait ban have been implemented on Lower Kananaskis Lake for bull trout to reduce mortality in this unique native fish. Lower Kananaskis is one of a very few lakes in Alberta with a population of bull trout. However, that population is in serious decline. Current studies show that fewer than 20 mature females now enter Smith-Dorrien Creek to spawn. As a result, that creek, its tributaries and the northwest bay of Lower Kananaskis Lake have been closed to bull trout fishing.

- Bear Pond and Big Iron Lake in Kananaskis Country have been stocked with Arctic grayling, creating a unique fishing opportunity for this part of the province. Catch-and-release fishing has been implemented to ensure the development of a self-reproducing population.

- Season opening dates have been changed on portions of the Red Deer River and its major tributaries to protect spawning walleye. As well, a catch-and-release fishery has been implemented for brown trout to help establish self-reproducing populations of this fish in these waters.

- The spring closure on the unmaned tributary to Pigeon Lake has been extended by a week to protect spawning walleye.

Refer to the 1992 Guide to Sportfishing for a complete listing of all regulation changes.

says that the ramps you usually see are about a three foot buildup. Hmmm, that's interesting. More accidents happen on stairs than just about anywhere else, stairs get ice-coated, people slip, hit their knees on the edges of the steps. Steps get dirty, they're hard to sweep in the corners. Some people have trouble walking up normal stairs for many different health related reasons, surgery, broken legs, arthritis, wheel-chairs. If you added up all of the people who would rather walk up a ramp than stairs, you'd probably get more than half the town. So common sense tells us that ramps are safer, and a worthwhile investment. Yet Mike Storey claims there's no grant money available for ramps.

Which leads us to another question: Do ramps really have to cost a fortune? I've seen some wooden carpeted ramps that seem to do the job nicely, all it takes is a few boards, some out-door carpet, and a little time.

Have we forgotten to take pride in our businesses? What kind of business is it that cannot accommodate its own customers?

Put yourself in the chair—when you're out running errands, do you really want to have to stop every five minutes and ask someone to please open a door or push your chair over a high doorstep? On a quiet day, there might not be anybody around to ask that, so what would you do then? Ram feet first into the door attraction, private parties and get-togethers are also beginning to rent their own Karaoke machines as part of the entertainment for the evening.

That's where Notley saw an opening. Her experience in Lloydminster intrigued her so much that after doing a bit of research, she decided to buy her own machine and rent it out to residents in and around the Olds area. "All my equipment for this had to come from Calgary. It cost around $3,300 to buy and was manufactured somewhere in the States, but it's really simple to use and practically no training at all is required."

Anyone with access to a regular television set can hook up a Karaoke machine. Notley's model is run off of compact disks which are supplied with a special playing device that connects directly to any TV set. "There's 20 CD's that I have for my customers to choose from that have 18 songs on each disk," Notley says.

The music Notley carries primarily comes from the 1960's and 70's, an era she says has the kinds of recognizable songs most people are able to sing along with in a group. "Many people rent the machine for special get-togethers... whether it's a birthday or some other type of party. There's really no one kind of gathering that uses it more than others... or one age group."

As part of her personalized service, Notley says she will deliver the machine anywhere within a 40 km. radius of her home located just outside of Olds where she and her husband Rob operate the family farm.

March sets new records

Warm weather during the month set new monthly mean temperatures at several stations across the province. Some of the locations and their new record monthly mean temperatures (Degrees Celsius) are: Rocky Mountain House (1.1), Whitecourt (2.3), Red Deer (2.1), Jasper (3.3), Banff (2.8), Cold Lake (0.5), Coronation (1.4), Edson (2.3), Grande Prairie (1.1), Fort McMurray (-1.4) and Edmonton City (2.6). The previous high monthly mean temperature for Edmonton Municipal was 2.5 set in 1889. New daily record temperatures were reported frequently as warm air lingered over the province.

Precipitation during the month was relatively light with all stations reporting below normal amounts. Southern Alberta received much below normal precipitation with some stations reporting only a trace. A vigorous cold front late in the month did give some snow to central Alberta but this melted as temperatures recovered rapidly and the following day.

Hours of sunshine for March were above the normal values across central and southern regions. Northern Alberta reported values near normal.

Soil moisture outlook for Spring 1992

Spring 1992 soil moisture levels for agriculture are projected to be dry across the province. Eastern Alberta could be particularly dry due to the warm winter with below normal snowfall. Some concern is being expressed about agricultural drought however two-thirds of the moisture for cereals and oilseeds comes from growing season rainfall.

This moisture outlook is based on fall soil moisture and over winter precipitation with the assumption of normal precipitation during the spring.

This outlook is a preliminary view as final spring moisture levels will depend on the actual spring rains.

El Nino continues

Weather systems world wide continue to be influenced by El Nino with both areas of drought and areas of excess precipitation being reported. What may be expected to happen next? Historically, the influence of El Nino on temperatures in Alberta diminishes in strength through the spring months. On average, the spring period is only very slightly warmer than normal during an El Nino year.

Precipitation patterns are more difficult to understand. Northern Alberta's precipitation is not greatly influenced by El Nino. Precipitation varies about the long-term average in the usual fashion with periods of drought and periods of excess precipitation. Central Alberta has drier winters with El Nino but precipitation during the spring and summer typically returns to normal conditions. In southern Alberta, the springs following El Nino winters have generally continued to have below normal precipitation. In the 1926 El Nino, however, a dry spring was followed by a very wet summer. History suggest, therefore, that residents of southern Alberta should anticipate continued drier than normal conditions through spring.

New Koinonia superintendent selected

The Central Alberta Christian Education Society has chosen a successor to Jake Penner as Superintendent of Koinonia Schools.

Rev. Dennis Punter, currently Student Dean and Professor of Christian Education at Mountain View Bible College in Didsbury, was selected on the basis of his extensive experience in education, leadership, ministry and education.

Dennis was born and raised near Kindersley, Saskatchewan. His Christian commitment started at Nazarene Camp near Olds at the age of 14 then led him to

M.V.B.C., where he studied for four years. There he met and married his wife, Linda.

After spending 12 years in the pastorate, Dennis attended Canadian Theological Seminary in Regina, where he received his Master's Degree in Christian Education. He then spent three years as Student Dean at Okanagan Bible College in Kelowna and now seven years at M.V.B.C. in the same capacity. He is presently working on his Doctor of Ministry degree and is a Board Member at Olds Koinonia Christian School.

Linda and Dennis have three children. Graham and Coleen live at Rosebud where Graham is the Assistant Technical Director at Rosebud School of the Arts. Their second son, Gordon, is an Intern Pastor at Bonavista Missionary Church in Calgary. Julie is a grade 10 student at Olds K.C.S.

Dennis is excited to be building on the foundation that has been laid and has high enthusiasm for the goals of Koinonia Schools. He has already been introduced to the Administrators at their monthly meeting and has met with the Executive Board.

Bergthal Mennonite news

By Erna Goerzen

The Justice Van came to Bergthal Mennonite Church on Sunday, April 5, 1992. Sponsored by Mennonite Central Committee (Canada) Victim-Offender Ministries, the van is touring across Canada. It is a mobile symbol presenting a call to re-examine criminal justice issues in our land. The present justice system concentrates on procedure (lawyers, courts) and on punishing the criminal. It is ineffective in restoring the criminal and has nothing to offer the victim.

Victim-Offender Ministries seeks to bring victim and offender together to make things right and to allow restoration and healing to happen.

The van is driven by Addison and Gerda Klassen. They are also the founders of El'Dad Ranch, a halfway house for mentally disabled young men in trouble with the law. With the help of a video, they shared stories from their work, while also giving the biblical background to justice that makes things right in the lives of hurting people.

Crime of the week

This week Crime Stoppers is seeking your help in trying to identify a young man who attempted to cash stolen cheques in Red Deer.

At approximately 3 p.m. on Monday, February 3, 1992, a man entered the Red Deer Cheque Cashers Ltd. located at 4908B Ross Street. He signed two cheques while presenting false I.D. and gave them to the clerk. The clerk became suspicious of the man and phoned the police. Upon the arrival of the officer, the young man fled. It was later determined that the cheques had been stolen. The man is described as white male, about 22 years old, 6'3", 185 lbs., dark brown collar length hair. He was wearing sneakers, black pants, black leather jacket, and a navy ball cap advertising IKO Roofing Products.

If you have any information as to the identity of this man, call Crime Stoppers now at 340-TIPS, that's 340-8477, or call toll free at 1-800-661-TIPS. Remember, the calls to Crime Stoppers are not traced or recorded and you never have to reveal your identity. Crime Stoppers will pay up to 2,000 dollars for information leading to the arrest of suspects in any
